

Which of these was not a real space shuttle name?

Columbia
Discovery
Endeavour
Constitution

Feedback if answered correctly

That's right! The very first shuttle was planned to be named Constitution, but numerous letters from fans of the Star Trek television series convinced the White House to change the name to Enterprise.

Feedback if answered wrong

Nope. The very first shuttle was planned to be named Constitution, but numerous letters from fans of the Star Trek television series convinced the White House to change the name to Enterprise.